
WHOS NEWS

BARAK Realty announced the return of William Vilkelis to its powerhouse boutique team as vice president. Spending the past 18 months at Halstead Property, Vilkelis returns to BARAK where he was a vice president and top producer from 2006-2008. Vilkelis started his own successful yacht brokerage before joining the real estate business. His personal attention to each client and attention to detail allows him to relate to the customers he works with. With an extensive education background including a master's degree in environmental engineering, Vilkelis takes pride in able to objectively evaluating properties.

William holds a Masters Degree in Environmental Engineering from Manhattan College, a Bachelors Degree in Electrical Engineering from Hofstra University, and studied Information Technology Management at Columbia University.